Defense Charges To Stay

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's defense drive will continue at its present rate next year, the Throne Speech opening the 22nd Parliament forecast Thursday.

The 1200-word speech outlining government policy and projected legislation was read in English and in French in the Senate chamber by Governor General Vincent Massey. It said:

"Much remains to be done before there can be a permanent and durable peace in the world. My ministers therefore consider it would be unwise for the free nations to slacken their efforts to build up and maintain the necessary strength to deter aggression and they intend to continue to work to that end."

Defense this year is costing $2,000,000,000, half the entire Canadian budget, and officials said that roughly this same amount will be spent in 1954. There may be increased expenditures for some phases of defense, less for others.

FOREIGN POLICY

The speech described the North Atlantic Treaty alliance as one of the cornerstones of Canadian foreign policy, promised continued technical assistance and rehabilitation funds for underdeveloped countries and expressed the hope that a political conference would bring peace to Korea.

Major policies on home affairs in the speech were an expanded housing program, added financial help for hog producers, more fish sales and an assistance program for totally disabled persons.

The speech said the government is giving "particular attention" to development of fish markets and encouragement of more production methods in the Atlantic fisheries, especially in Newfoundland. The speech said plans for rehabilitation of totally disabled persons are being worked out with the provinces and that a bill providing for an assistance program for such persons will be introduced.

Officials said later that some 20,000 totally disabled persons between the ages of 18 and 65 likely will get pensions not exceeding $40 a month.

The Commons will be asked to amend the Pipe Lines Act to give the board of transport commissioners jurisdiction over all companies authorized to construct or operate inter-provincial or international oil or gas pipe lines.

This would reinforce the government's support for a Canadian transcontinental natural gas pipe line. The board now has jurisdiction over pipe line companies incorporated by Parliament but not over those incorporated by provinces.

Parliament will be asked to resume its unfinished job of revising the Criminal Code. The speech also said a committee of penal experts has been appointed to examine and report upon methods of parole and remission of sentences.

The speech forecast some changes in veterans' legislation but officials said they will not be major ones. They will deal with "some extension of benefits."

Crash Victim Remains Unconscious

Lester E. Jones, critically injured in Tuesday's fatal crash at Suicide Corner on the Goldstream Hill, was still unconscious and in a very critical condition, at an early hour today.

Mr. Jones was in the car in which Donald B. Johnston and S. John Cross were killed in a collision with a lowboy trailer. Another passenger, Captain Bernard McKay, 56, of Vancouver, was treated for scalp and chest injuries at Royal Jubilee Hospital and his condition is reported "fairly good."

Mr. Jones, who is 59 and lives at 2571 Blackwood, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with serious head and face injuries. He has not regained consciousness since the accident.

Workers Accept BCER Offers

VANCOUVER (CP)—Electrical workers accepted a B.C. Electric Co. offer, but turned down offers by two other companies, votes counted Thursday.

More than 80 per cent of the 500 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) members employed by the B.C. Electric Co. voted to accept a 4 per cent raise spread over two years and fringe benefits amounting to another 1 1/2 per cent.

However, another 500 workers employed by Hume & Rumble, Limited, and Peterson Electric, Limited, voted 90 per cent to turn down an offer which did not involve a pension plan, such as enjoyed by BCER members.

Next move of the union will be to ask for a conciliation board hearing.

Full gains from the BCER are: 2 per cent raise in 1953, retroactive to August 1; another 2 per cent, from next August and full payment instead of half — by the company of MSA and BCERIS costs. The BCER workers also enjoy a pension plan which the company says costs them another 4 per cent of the workers' wages.

It is this plan which Peterson and Hume and Rumble refused to accept.

New production schedules in Vancouver and Vancouver Island mills call for operation of a full first shift and a partial second shift five days a week.

Crews will be called back to work as soon as market conditions improve, probably about the first of the year, company officials said.

They attributed the lay-offs to curtailed fir plywood production necessitated by the first drop-off in 20 years in an annually increasing Canadian demand for plywood.

Spy Case Subpoena Spurned by Truman

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman spurned a subpoena from the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities Thursday, any man moves to force the former president to testify on the Harry Dexter White "Soviet spy" case collapsed.

In polite yet strong terms, Truman told the committee by letter that for him to obey the subpoena would shatter the constitutional doctrine of presidential independence of Congress and make the president "a mere arm of the legislative branch of the government."

Chairman Harold Velde (Rep., Ill.) said the committee has no intention of trying to compel the former president to appear, though he said the former president has "a sacred duty to cooperate in all respect where the public safety and public welfare are concerned."

The committee voted late in the day to invite Attorney General Herbert Brownell to testify on the White case, Velde said afterwards. Brownell had accepted the invitation, for a date still to be determined.

Ottawa Rules Out Shipping Subsidy

OTTAWA (CP)—Transport Minister Chevrier announced Thursday the government has ruled against providing an operating subsidy for ships of Canada's deep-sea fleet.

At the same time, he announced a decision to ease restrictions placed on ship owners when they bought government-built ships at relatively low prices after the war.

Both moves were reported unofficially Wednesday.

The minister held out some hope that newer Canadian vessels operating on some ocean routes might qualify for subsidies later.

STATEMENT ISSUED

A statement from his office said:

"It appears feasible to establish modern Canadian flag vessels on certain routes that would be of benefit to the development of Canadian trade. Mr. Chevrier indicated that consideration might be given at a later date as to whether or not some form of assistance ought to be provided in such cases."

The cabinet decision followed recent requests of deep-sea ship owners that the treasury provide aid for Canadian flag shipping, which has found itself unable to compete with vessels of other countries for world business because of higher operating costs and other factors.

Both moves were reported unofficially Wednesday.

Legislation To Cheapen New Homes

Throne Speech Hints Down Payment Cut

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Easier down payments on new houses, indicated in the Speech from the Throne, Thursday, are welcomed by the building trades in Victoria.

High costs have put most Victoria builders out of the homebuilding business, but the more favorable buying terms indicated as government policy may help the situation, according to George H. Wheaton, president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, who is also a building contractor.

"The government is better taking this step of encouraging people to buy their own houses than going into the building business itself, as it has occasionally done in the past," he said.

Mr. Wheaton believes home building in Victoria will be stimulated.

SELL MORE READILY

"Obviously any product which is purchasable on easier terms will sell more readily," he declared.

An official of Central Mortgage and Housing, through which crown corporation all loans will be passed, said that it was impossible to say at the moment, in the lack of specific terms, how the Victoria public would respond.

"We would certainly anticipate bringing in a number of new people," said the spokesman, but he would not be surprised either way at the reception.

There was no way of telling how many people were deterred from starting house construction because of the present down payment of 20 per cent, he said.

CHANGE FOR BANKS

Dugald Macgregor, manager of the Bank of Montreal Douglas Street branch said that he anticipated a change in the Bank Act which would allow the prime minister also said the government was considering reductions in down payments and lengthening of time to pay on mortgage loans to make it easier for the low-wage earner to buy a house.

For weeks officials have been grappling with measures for cutting down payments and the new legislation likely will set out.

The down payment on the first $8,000 of the lending value of a house will be cut to 10 per cent from 20.

The down payment on the portion in excess of $8,000 will be 30 per cent.

Interest rates will be increased to 5 1/2 per cent from 5.

Mortgages running to 25 and 30 years will become normal. Currently mortgage men are reluctant to lend money on anything beyond 20-year mortgages.

Missing FBI Reports Potentially Dangerous to U.S. Counter-Spies

WASHINGTON (NAN)—The disappearance from White House files of Federal Bureau of Investigation reports on Soviet espionage agents endangers the life of U.S. counter-intelligence agents at home and abroad.

This is the view of J. Edgar Hoover, expressed long before the current controversy over the case of Harry Dexter White, deceased former treasury department aide under the Truman administration, who was labeled Friday by Attorney General Herbert Brownell as a top Soviet spy.

One of the FBI reports submitted to the White House initially in 1945 is a 53-page document containing the names of dozens of Americans and foreign nationals, in addition to known Russian military and NKVD agents who employed them.

In addition, a 16-page FBI report, submitted to the White House, dealing specifically with Harry Dexter White, which has also vanished, contains the names of Americans planted inside the Communist party by the FBI. Their usefulness and perhaps their lives would end if the report became public or fell into Communist hands, Hoover said, and his aides have repeatedly stressed.

Mr. Truman, who is in a political battle over the White House with Attorney General Brownell, says he did not receive the 53-page FBI report reveals the scope of the document and its importance to subsequent security matters.

"This memorandum has been prepared for the purpose of presenting in concise form the picture of Soviet espionage activity in the United States. It is divided into three sections: first, Soviet espionage activity between the First World War and the Second World War; second, espionage activity during the Second World War; and third, Soviet espionage activity as it exists in the United States today."

Although the report is dated 1947 it was revised subsequently and contains additional secret data—through 1948.

The FBI has jealously guarded the identity of its agents inside the Communist party, as well as the names of informants who have broken with the party. The same applies to foreigners in the U.S. working for Russian espionage networks, who are being watched by the FBI.

To make public the names of known Soviet agents runs the risk of revealing their usefulness not only to the Russians, but, even more important, to the FBI.

When known and under surveillance, foreign spies are used as plants for phony information and, by being followed, as "leaders" to American citizens co-operating with them.

When their identities are disclosed the Russians remove them and replace them with others, who often accomplish considerable damage before being detected by the FBI.

To publish the name of an American inside the Communist party who has been co-operating with the FBI is even more harmful to the security forces here. If their names fall into Communist hands the Reds can reverse the field and plant phony information on them to harass and mislead the FBI.

Some, suspected by the Communists, have already been dropped out of the party as "security risks." Others have fled in terror or have been used by Communists or dupes.

In all, more than 80 Americans were named in the 53-page White House report that has now been laid before the public in the current controversy. The 16-page FBI report dealing with White has so far not been made public, although it has vanished from White House files. Possession of it by unauthorized persons so long as it retains its secret classification is unlawful.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

TWO women I know went visiting and arrived at the house quite tired. Their hostess welcomed them.

"Let's sit down," she said, and the visitors prepared to sink into comfortable chairs. But a look of mingled dismay and reproach on the lady's face kept them from doing so.

Then the truth hit them. The lady of the house was herding them politely toward the kitchen. So in they went, and perched on hard wooden seats.

Those comfortable chairs were beautifully upholstered, and free from any stain. The whole room—laughingly called the "sitting room," or the "living room," was as clean as a whistle.

But the chairs were never meant to be sat in, and the room was never meant to be lived in. Nor could that chamber be called the "drawing room," because no one would dare withdraw into it and take his ease.

The room was a kind of domestic museum, kept to impress people with the wealth, good taste and housekeeping skill of the lady who controlled it.

In that house, the kitchen was the living-room. Even there, it was doubtful if the inmates of the house could be said to "live." They existed on sufferance, as long as they didn't litter the table with newspapers or put ashes in the ash trays.

Of course the kitchen was spotless, too. Not a saucepan, not a fork was out of place. Floor, stove and sink were polished to a high gloss.

The hostess was kind and friendly, but the visitors felt themselves to be the only objects out of place in that exemplary house. Sooner or later the hostess would get a broom and sweep them into the garbage can, or else absent-mindedly give them a rub-down with Brasso.

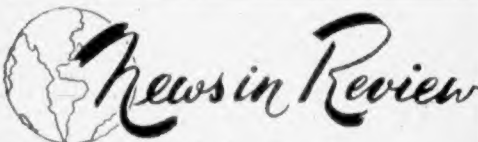

That house was not a lone specimen. There are many like it. Sometimes you can identify such a house by the shoes at the doorstep. The lady of the place, like a priestess of an Oriental temple, makes people remove their shoes before they enter to worship at her domestic shrine.

The rule may apply only to the men and children of her own flock, but in extreme cases it is forced upon visitors, too.

One day we will hear of a lady who has carried housekeeping zeal to its logical end, and moved the family out of the house into a kennel in the yard, keeping the house itself as a showplace. Every now and then the housewife will enter the place wearing an antiseptic mask and carrying a vacuum cleaner, to flush out any dust and germs that have found uneasy lodging inside.

People will be allowed to peer at the rooms through the windows, providing they are careful not to leave any nose-prints on the glass.

"That's where we used to live," the children will explain. But once the housewife begins polishing the kennel in the yard, the family had better move out of it into a tent, and hope for the best.

Alderman's Last Day Marked by Defeats

Ald. Donald Smith's last day on city council was a bad one but he went down fighting. Before his resignation was accepted near the end of Thursday's council meeting, the young alderman found himself on the short end of six different council decisions, three of them 8-1 counts.

Alderman Smith resigned in the middle of his two-year term on the council in the December 30 civic elections.

He was among the minority on the question of bus stop benches and a motion on tenders. He was outvoted 8-1 on a tree-cutting issue, a charitable grant plebiscite and his own motion for a referendum on civic staff running for public office. In addition, his motion to recommend that the new Victoria Nursing Home be named the "Margaret Christie Hospital" was tabled by a 4-3 vote.

Hundreds Acclaim Wood As True Master of Piano

BY RAY BAINES

Hundreds went Wednesday night to the Victoria High School auditorium to hear a local boy who made good and heard a piano virtuoso.

The fact that Robin Wood is a Victorian only adds pride to one's enjoyment of his mastery of the piano. A touch that is strong and sure, technique that is faultless, and mastery of all the tonal subtleties of the piano add up to the kind of brilliance that makes Mr. Wood's playing completely satisfying.

UNAFFECTED ON STAGE On stage he is unaffected, modest and possessed of the humility of real genius. He brings to the concert stage an air of youthful freshness and plays with intense interest.

The first two works, the Bach-Busoni "Chaconne" and Liszt's B Minor Sonata, are delights for the listener and real tests for the performer. Under Mr. Wood's deft touch, the great fortissimo tones and the delicate soft passages were beautifully contrasted.

The three Chopin works, F Minor Mazurka, D Flat Nocturne and Scherzo in E, were handled with feeling, warmth and finesse.

The final section included Liszt's "The Little White Donkey," an enjoyable little descriptive piece with harmony as pleasing as its humor. Poulenc's thoroughly delightful "Pastourelle" received an ovation from the large audience.

With Prokofiev's difficult "Toccata," Mr. Wood demonstrated his mastery of a new and different school of piano composition. Dissonant and technically demanding, the modern work is full of sound and fury.

PROVOCATIVE TO EAR For the listener it is provocative to the ear. For the performer it is a challenge both in its physical demands and its interpretation. Mr. Wood produced an excellent result with apparent ease. His encores included the often-played De Falla "Ritual Fire Dance" which sounded as fresh as the first time it was heard.

DONALD B. JOHNSTON

STANLEY JOHN CROSS

An inquest into the Tuesday traffic deaths of Donald B. Johnston, 34, 810 Metcalfe and Stanley John Cross, 46, of 132 Dallas, will be held in McCall Brothers' Funeral Home, today, at 10:30 a.m.

The men were killed instantly Tuesday when the English car they were riding in was in collision with a trailer truck driven by J. K. Dewar, Chemainus, on the Island Highway at Goldstream.

The accident occurred shortly before 5 p.m., Tuesday, at "Suicide Corner," when the Johnston car heading for Victoria plowed into the trailer truck that had "jackedknifed" across the highway.

Garden Notes

Flower Changes Aren't All Good

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

I was reading a piece in a popular magazine a few days ago about some of the work which is being done in breeding new plants through the use of the drug, Colchicine. This poison, extracted from the roots of the autumn crocus, seems to have a peculiar effect on the cells of plants, and when it is used on seeds, cuttings and plants it is possible to produce, in the words of the article, "Hollyhocks with blooms the size of dinner plates, marigolds like yellow saucers, double flowers where only singles grew before, and a whole new range of colors in a lot of our popular flowers."

I wonder how much of this we really want? Size alone is a poor criterion on which to judge the value of flowers, and only too often, in the process of breeding for size of bloom, something is lost along the way.

Some of the modern gladioli are now too big to bring into the house. Some dahlias are now so big they have become exorbitant, and some of the chrysanthemums which take the blue ribbons at shows have about as much grace and beauty as a floor mop.

The Tetra snapdragons, produced by doubling the number of chromosomes in the plant cells through colchicine treatment, are tremendous plants, with stems like a walking stick and enormous, semi-double flowers. They have their place as a bedding plant, but, with their stiff habit, they have become useless as a cut flower.

Some of the new hybrid lilies have enormous trusses of beautiful bloom, but the old lily scent is gone, and they emit such a horrible odor they have to be planted well away from the house.

New colors are something else again. I don't think I can ever work up much enthusiasm for a blue rose, but there is a real need for a yellow sweet pea, and a fortune awaits the breeder who produces a gladiolus.

Gregory Raps Policy Increase Demanded In Ferry Service

The government has created some taxes to the load being carried by provincial taxpayers, and another for the self-employed with its amendment to the Hospital Insurance Act, George Gregory, Liberal candidate in the November 24 by-election, declared Thursday night in a speech at Victoria West School.

"At the last session of the legislature, the government blithely excused some 33,000 defaulters from their obligation to pay arrears of hospital insurance premiums, without any qualification which would have required those who could have paid to pay, and blissfully wiped out some $2,000,000 of back premiums they owed," Mr. Gregory told an audience of some 25 persons.

"From now on, it appears, all those who are paid salaries—their large or small—will have to pay the full premiums, while those who are self-employed will enjoy the benefits of a purely voluntary scheme, and, as a result, an unreasonably large portion of the cost of maintaining our hospitals will fall on the salaried workers," he stated.

Mr. Gregory said the previous government administered the act impartially, never prosecuting anyone who couldn't afford to pay premiums, but never failing to prosecute delinquents who could afford them.

ISSUE DEFINED

The Liberal candidate said the Socialists were attempting to make the people believe there were no issues in the by-election.

The real issue, he said, is this: "Do you approve of the way the government has acted since it got its working majority last June?"

Mr. Gregory charged that the Socialists at the fall session added unnecessary and burden-

U.S. Lacked Leader At Crucial Period

NEW YORK (CP)—Sir Winston Churchill says Communist imperialism began to emerge near the end of the war in "the deadly hiatus which existed between the fading of President Roosevelt's strength and the growth of President Truman's grip on the vast world problem."

"In this melancholy void one president could not act and the other was too ill to act," he said.

Winston in his latest book, "Neither his military chiefs nor the state department received the guidance they required. The former confined themselves to their professional sphere; the latter did not comprehend the issues involved. The indispensable political direction was lacking at the moment when it was most needed."

"The United States stood on the scene of victory, master of world fortunes, but without a true and coherent design."

Sir Winston recalls Russia had been critical of American and British efforts to bring about a surrender of German forces in Italy. Roosevelt and Churchill also were much perturbed by what Sir Winston calls Russia's failure to live up to the Yalta understanding on a new government of Poland.

An impasse had been reached when President Roosevelt died April 12, 1945.

Sir Winston says his first impulse was to fly to the United States for President Roosevelt's funeral.

"Mr. Truman's idea was that after the funeral I might have had two or three days' talk with him," recalls Sir Winston.

"Much pressure was, however, put on me not to leave the country at this critical and difficult moment, and I yielded to the wishes of my friends."

"It seemed to me extraordinary, especially during the last few months, that Roosevelt had not made his deputy and potential successor thoroughly acquainted with the whole story and brought him into the decisions which were being taken."

Police Subdue Rioters Cheering for Mossadegh

TEHRAN (AP)—The royalist government's security forces killed two persons and arrested 130 here Thursday to quell rioting by Communists and extreme nationalists in behalf of Mohammed Mossadegh, the ex-premier accused of treason.

Rain helped clear the streets. Police, troops and tanks clamped the tightest grip on Tehran since Gen. Fazlollah Zahedi overthrew Mossadegh in the name of the Shah and assumed the premiership August 29.

Soldiers' rifles and police clubs were brought into play to check roving gangs of thousands of youths, some obeying

Communist Nationalist orders for a general strike, who roamed the main thoroughfares shouting "Long live Mossadegh."

Brig. Teimour Bakhtier commander of an armored unit, said two were shot dead when troops fired to break up a mob at the intersection of two streets bearing names of the royal family: Shah Reza and Pahlavi. Squares and bazaars were heavily guarded.

The strike, called in sympathy for Mossadegh shortly before an army court martial started a hearing on his case last Saturday, appeared to have collapsed.

Work Project Asked For Disaster Area

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Work projects rather than relief gifts were suggested Thursday by two men familiar with conditions in the western Alaska fishing season disaster area.

The two are Jim Downey of the Bering Sea Fishermen's Union, and the Rev. Father George S. Endal, Jesuit priest whose headquarters are at Dillingham.

"A diligent inquiry reveals there is an immediate need for money and food in many instances in Ilamna and the Nushagak areas," Father Endal told the Anchorage Times.

"The instances of need," he continued, "will multiply with passing time." He said that because between 30 and 75 per cent of the people there have no credit ratings at stores, many went into winter with abnormally small grubstakes.

To relieve the situation, he said, work is urgently needed and preferred to outright relief if any feasible project can be found.

Downey said other areas needing aid include Kivikak and Naknek on Kivikak Bay; Togiak, Ugashik and Egegik. The latter two towns are on Alaska peninsula.

Hooper Bay cannery workers on the Bering Sea coast also were "hit exceptionally hard by unemployment in all canneries last summer," Father Endal said, "but we have no information concerning present conditions."

Fifty different parliaments in the Commonwealth sent gifts to help furnish the new British House of Commons.

Tell Me, Doctor

"I am a young woman 26 years old. Please advise what to do about a lump I recently discovered in my right breast."

In his popular Journal series, "Tell Me, Doctor," Doctor Henry B. Safford answers important questions about just such alarming danger signs—which could be cancer.

Rene Beaudoin New Speaker

OTTAWA (CP)—A young law-maker who scratched an education by doing odd jobs around Montreal Thursday became the $16,000-a-year "first member" of the Commons.

Rene Beaudoin, 41, was chosen Speaker—presiding officer—of the House on a unanimous vote.

of all party leaders. His election saw the rarety of Prime Minister St. Laurent moving it and Hon. George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, seconding it.

The suave and handsome new speaker, fluent in his native French and in English, is the Liberal member for Vaudeville-Soulanges, near Montreal. He was deputy speaker in the last Parliament under Hon. Ross Macdonald, who has moved to the Senate as government leader in that chamber.

The appointment of Mr. Beaudoin follows the tradition of alternating between French-speaking and English-speaking presiding officers at each Parliament. William Robinson, Liberal member for Simcoe East, was named later as his deputy, a post that makes him the potential speaker of the next parliament.

Mr. Robinson, 48, a lawyer and former mayor of Midland, Ont., has been in the House since 1945.

An ancient ritual borrowed from the British Parliament was followed in naming Mr. Beaudoin at the opening of Canada's 22nd Parliament.

First, the Commons members were summoned to the Senate by Chief Justice Thibault. In the Senate, the deputy speaker-general, "discovered" that the lower House did not have a speaker and sent members back to elect one before the Commons could hear, in the speech from the throne, the government's reasons for summoning Parliament.

As speaker, Mr. Beaudoin now rates an "honorable" in front of his name. He gets the usual $6,000-a-year sessional indemnity of members, $2,000 of which is tax-free. He also gets an additional $6,000 salary, $3,000 in lieu of a residence and a $1,000 automobile allowance.

However, much of the Speaker's gross income customarily is disposed of in an entertainment fund that is virtually mandatory.

The Speech from the Throne read at the opening of Parliament did not mention members' sessional indemnities. However, informants said the question is under active study by government experts and that legislation to increase the indemnities is fairly certain to be brought in some time during the current session.

At present, all Commons members receive $6,000 a year, of which $2,000 is tax-exempt. Parliamentary assistants to ministers get another $4,000. Ministers get $18,000 altogether, and the prime minister receives $23,000. The prime minister also lives in a government residence, but he pays back $5,000 a year for this.

Several ways to increase the basic indemnity are under con-

Three Leaders To Meet

HIGH-LEVEL discussion between Great Britain, the United States and France, scheduled to take place at a Bermuda conference of their respective leaders on December 4-8, is quite a little short of the mark that Sir Winston Churchill was aiming at when he began his advocacy of direct negotiation between dissident world groups. The object was to confer with Russia, not through the mists of the iron curtain, but face to face in the person of Premier Malenkov. Lukewarmness on the part of some western states presaged the collapse of the initial proposal. The three-power conference is its successor.

In times as disturbed as the present, with world tension very little if any lightened since the beginning of the present year, even small gains are welcome. It will prove thoroughly worthwhile if Prime Minister Churchill, President Eisenhower and Premier Laniel in their Bermuda conversations can bring all three powers to a closer understanding of their own aims. The three statesmen may achieve more concurrence in their discussions than several previous meetings of foreign ministers indicated or foreshadowed. There is vital need for the West to speak with a united voice, and without divided intent in any major particular.

Those knowing the capacity of Sir Winston, and his undiminished zeal on behalf of genuine world accord, will not find it difficult to imagine that this, his latest attempt at working co-operation, may produce some surprises on its own. If the informal conference shears through red tape and brings Great Britain, the United States and France to a fuller, joint appreciation of the common problem facing themselves and the rest of the free world that much will be a clear gain. Success there, as elsewhere, depends on the will to agree and its application in practical terms. Great Britain under Prime Minister Churchill is taking the first step, and none can doubt its sincerity.

Higher Wages, Fewer Jobs

OF Canada's once large fleet of merchant ships no more than a shadow now remains. Singly or in batches they have been transferred to foreign ownership, not because Canada has no further use for a merchant navy but because it has become uneconomical to maintain one. This is due partly to the fact that some of the other nations with which Canada has been trying vainly to compete support their deep-sea shipping by subsidies, but the basic cause of Canada's withdrawal from competition is the high and annually increasing cost of operation.

When it is noted that the fleet of 400 merchant ships that once flew the Canadian flag has dwindled to a mere 30, the increase in pay which the seamen's unions recently won from the shipowners by means of a strike appear as a hollow victory. Of what avail are high wage rates when their effect is to extinguish employment? The loss of 350 ships means the loss of jobs for some 10,000 officers, engineers and seamen, not temporarily but permanently; and this in a time when there is enough cargo moving in both directions to warrant expansion rather than virtual extinction of the merchant navy, if it were profitable to operate under Canadian registry.

This loss of jobs is bad enough in itself. The situation confronting Canadian deep-sea shipping is much more serious from the national defense point of view, however. If another war should catch this country without a merchant navy, all surface movement into and out of the country would have to depend on whatever Canada's allies could place at her disposal; and the scarcity of shipping being what it is in wartime, that might be none. In such circumstances the position of the Dominion would be parlous indeed.

Divergence in Ceylon

THE Ceylon government is at odds with its governor-general who comes from England. It has replied strongly to his query regarding the ban in that country on flying the Union Jack and playing "God Save the Queen." The wording of the reply is intriguing.

The people of Ceylon are puzzled by three things, says their prime minister. These are: why there should be a "foreign" governor-general, why there should be "an English flag," and why there should be "an English national anthem"—in a nation now free and independent. It looks as though the Ceylonese premier is making political capital when he thus ventilates his divergence with present constitutional arrangements. If his people are puzzled he can scarcely be.

Ceylon is as he says free and independent. If she wishes she can choose a native governor-general, as the prime minister must well know. If in fact Ceylon wishes to pull out of the Commonwealth altogether, or adopt a status similar to that of India, no one can stop her. There can be no coercion, she is utterly free to do so as she pleases in this regard. Perhaps public sentiment is not in favor of cutting Commonwealth ties, however, and the prime minister chooses this method of arousing Ceylonese pride to his support.

Nevertheless in the matter of flags and anthems the Ceylonese government has a point of some worth from Ceylonese eyes. Ceylon has a Ceylonese flag and also, a Ceylonese national anthem, both of which were used at official functions along with the Union Jack and "God Save the Queen" until the latter two were banned. The cited ground for the change is that as the Queen has been proclaimed Queen of Ceylon there is no need for a second flag or anthem. That is perhaps an argument not easy to counter in respect to a nation of non-Christian affiliation and non-British racial stock.

STAND COMMENDED

Sir.—Rev. William Hills is to be commended for having the courage in his column "Padre in Print" to hand out such forthright condemnation of certain modern "literature." The authors of this type of fiction, if fiction it is, apparently aim at playing up all that is filthy and sordid, and no doubt find this a profitable means of livelihood, judging by the demand for these trashy "best sellers."

That such books are permitted to circulate from our lending libraries, public and private, is hard to understand. Is there no censorship nowadays, or is it that the "filthy and stinking rubbish" to which Padre Hills refers is regarded by the censors as acceptable literature for young and old alike?

RIDING INSTRUCTION

Sir.—Re the article in Tuesday's edition with regard to Mr. D. B. Carley and the Victoria Riding Academy. It would seem more might be added about the interest shown in adult pupils. I speak for a group of ladies of varied ages who have enjoyed the privilege of instruction from both Mr. and Mrs. Carley. We cannot speak too highly of their patience and encouragement and of the feeling of confidence which they quietly instill in even the most timid.

Surely if there should be anyone nursing the urge to ride, even to the point where it might be considered that the passing years have erected a barrier, they could do no better than take the plunge and really shed those years in the exhilaration of this pleasant and profitable relaxation.

Our group can vouch for the kindly instruction.

THE SHIRLEY POPPY

Sir.—Being quite a keen gardener myself, I always read the article written by Mr. Chesnut, I am, however, inclined to disagree with his article in a recent issue. He gives the impression that the "Shirley Poppy" was originated from the "Flinders" poppy by Rev. Mr. Wilks of Shirley, near Croydon, Surrey.

As a descendant of an old Shirley family, whose grandparents were married by Mr. Wilks, also an aunt and uncle now living in the Gorge area, were married by him 51 years ago, I think I am right in stating that the "Shirley Poppy" was already quite popular before the year 1912.

My mother, who still lives within eight miles of Shirley, has often told me of the hours spent by Mr. Wilks among his flowers, when she was quite a young person.

AT ART CENTRE

Sir.—I am only one of many who have found it refreshing to observe that recent exhibitions at the Art Centre on Moss Street have been partially free from the grotesque and distorted forms acclaimed as "modern art." While the turbulent and stark have a place in representing the Canadian scene, the current show by Victoria artist Maude Paget, is notable in that her work captured our faded atmosphere of which we like to boast. We find peace and serenity on the harbor and waterfront when the shipping rests easily against the wharves. In restrained contrast are depicted bright, breezy days when ships stir uneasily, but the ruffled waters still reflect the thrilling blue of heaven's vault. Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings"

By TOM TAYLOR

AN ESQUIMALT reader telephoned me the other day to suggest that more courtesy among car drivers might prevent many an accident. For example:

When a car is obviously bent on passing the one ahead of it the driver of the front car could arm-signal "come on" if the way were clear, and "hold back" if it were not. In this way motorists would not pull out blindly into the opposite lane as they frequently do, and the danger of collision would be lessened.

My correspondent was in Britain this summer, and he says he noted this courtesy very much in vogue over there, and he presumes with beneficial results.

On another aspect of courtesy, that of the use of the title Esquire, which a correspondent recently quoted as being obsolete in B.C., a letter from Oak Bay says:

"Obsolete? Fortunately not. Three of the largest firms here always use it. Large numbers of private people invariably use it. It is coming back, not going out. 'Mr.' is an Americanism."

"Why? Those little courtesies cost nothing and add to the amenities of life. Courtesy to the humblest and to all men means a lot in this sad world."

In fun, she declares, a lady in Royal Oak takes umbrage at my recent remark, "a lady running from a mouse (of course)." Says she:

"It's the 'of course' I object to. I do not run, jump or climb from mice. . . . In support of my much abused sex I'll go further—I'm not scared of rats! I wouldn't take liberties with them, but my hand was so steady when I aimed a 22 at one (1940-1945 war!)—I scored a bull's-eye, right between the eyes! I suppose I'll have to admit the range was 10 yards or so, and there were two of them playing together!"

A Duncan war veteran asked me what I think of the treatment accorded recipients of the burnt-out pension. The answer is, not much.

Strange that federal authorities should do well, and rightly, by men of the last war yet be so harsh with some of their predecessors. These are the victims of 1914-18 whom battle-field service has physically impaired even though they had a clear discharge certificate, and who in recognition of this are granted the war veteran's allowance.

When they become 70 years of age and thus due for the universal old age pension (which is free and unrestricted to all others), the means test is applied and their allowance is reduced. If they dare earn a few extra dollars, down comes the federal axe. On no account must a single veteran of this type enjoy (save the mark!) more than $70 a month income, or a married one more than $100.

There was a letter to the editor this week on this subject, citing the latest notice that has gone out to burnt-out pensioners. This apparently is to the effect that any money earned by their wives or children through baby-sitting will be deducted from their allowances.

Baby-sitting, ye gods! Could anything be more pettifoggish, or pitiful? What a contemptible reward for men who donned a uniform and put their lives at stake!

Canada Reaches South

Living High in Mexico

WHEN our group of newspapermen went as guests of Canadian Pacific Airlines to Mexico City we received from our hosts the usual warnings. Go easy on the Mexican food, they said; don't drink any water, don't buy anything for a few days until you find your way around, and above all, remember that you'll be living at an altitude of 7,400 feet.

I, like a good tourist anywhere, knew better. I ate a Mexican dish at my first meal and became ill. I bought a piece of coin jewelry for 30 pesos ($3.50) that could be purchased in most stores for 15, and I only acknowledged the altitudinal problem when heart palpitations forced me to lie down for 10 minutes after running up three flights of stairs in our hotel.

Before our week was up most of us could eat a Mexican dish, with safety if not comfort. But we couldn't beat the altitude. Perhaps being used to sea level made it worse, but I couldn't walk briskly for a single block without going short of breath. At 7,400 feet the air is so thin that under any exertion you actually have to breathe twice as hard to get a normal amount of oxygen into your lungs. I have a better understanding now of why the Everest climbers suffered, not at 7,000 feet but at 29,000.

To a large extent the Mexican way of life is a reflection of the effects on the body of the altitude. The siesta, which is common throughout Latin America, is normally a mid-afternoon nap taken after lunch. In Mexico City most people have their siesta before lunch. The great height is said to slow the digestive system to half its sea level speed, and the siesta is designed to prepare it for the task ahead.

Most office hours are adjusted accordingly. Businesses other than retail stores generally open at 10 a.m. and remain open until 1:30. They open again from 4:30 to 7:30 or thereabouts. Dinner, which is the light meal of the day, comes after that, often as late as midnight.

Lima, Peru, where we spent one day, also has a three-hour lunch period, but for a different reason. All year round Lima has equal day and night—light at 6 a.m., dark at 6 p.m., so the government compels employers to give their staffs time off in the afternoon to enjoy the countryside and beaches in daylight.

One more effect of altitude interested me. We were able to fly non-stop from Vancouver to Mexico City, but on the return trip had to refuel at El Paso, Texas. The air is so thin over Mexico that Canadian Pacific's big DC-6B couldn't get off with a full load of gas. Similarly, on the way to Peru we refueled at Panama but returned from Lima to Mexico non-stop.

One other thing in Mexico that is hard to get used to is the technique of buying. I mentioned that on my first time out I bought a bracelet for 30 pesos that should have cost 15. I got it from a street vendor while I was still unaware that in Mexico you never pay the asking price. You dicker.

The captain of dickers in our party was Bert Cannings of Vancouver radio station CKWX. One day we visited the Basilica of Guadalupe, the spiritual centre of Latin-American Catholicism, outside which is a public market. As we strolled curiously through the market Bert was offered a white shawl for 35 pesos.

"No," he said, "it's only worth 10." A few minutes later, as we entered the beautiful church, the hawkler was down to 20 and Bert was still at 10. When we came out half an hour later the hawkler was at 15 and Bert showed complete disinterest. The bargaining continued as we strolled back towards the car and the salesman was still coming down, but a peso at a time now. He got down to 10 just as the car was pulling away and when Bert again said "no" his face fell a foot. I think at that point he would have let the scarf go for one peso to save face but it was too late. We were gone.

Not all buying is like this. On most of our meanderings we had a guide who dickered for us—but he didn't dicker. Once I wanted to buy a wicker basket marked at 37 pesos. The guide went up to the merchant and said I would pay 30 pesos, no more, no less, and no arguing about it. The merchant consented readily, and I got the basket. Then the merchant peeled off three pesos—10 per cent—and paid the guide his commission. It's not dishonest. They just do business that way in Mexico.

Tomorrow Mr. Halton will describe two of Mexico's most famous—and cruel—sports: bull fighting and cock fighting.

Don't Spare the Rod!

(From The Brantford Expositor)

IF YOU are going to hit a kid, hit him. Don't give him a love-tap—and a frown."

This forthright piece of advice to parents we hasten to rescue from undesired obscurity in the latest issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal, a publication few parents see and still fewer would read if they chanced upon it.

As if President Eisenhower hadn't enough troubles already, Juan Peron has taken to saying nice things about him.

Currently being touted are shoes that float. Fall into the water in these and you drown, but with dry feet.

A man in Wisconsin is reported to have walked out on his wife merely because he saw her grinding up glass and putting it in his hamburger. That's what wives find so difficult. Men make up their minds that they don't like new recipes before they have even tasted them.

How can they say that the farm scene isn't as picturesque as it used to be, when tractors come in more colors than horses ever did?

Reports From Ottawa

THIS is a big week for Ottawa, with two events to jolt it out of the routine pattern of small city living.

One is the visit of President Eisenhower, and the other the opening of the first post-election

Not that Ottawa the city is so excited about the President's visit. But officialdom here is keyed to a high pitch. Good relations between Ottawa and Washington are most important—and since the Republicans took over in Washington there seems to have jarring incidents ranging from import quotas to discrimination against a Canadian airline.

But the ordinary Ottawa man, somewhat blasé about political figures, will take the President in stride. After all, like the general was here twice in the last eight years. It's nice to have a visit from like the President. Shows the Yanks are smartening up about Canada. But if it were a choice between Ike and the Rough Riders on Saturday afternoon, a very large part of unofficial Ottawa would be at Lansdowne Park or home in front of the radio.

Parliament's a different kettle of fish. Not that many Ottawans would prefer parliamentary debates to a football game, but the return of parliament to its home on the hill has a special significance to Ottawa which is difficult to describe.

Actually your true Ottawan rarely visits Parliament Hill. Oh, he may take the kids to see the governor-general drive up in state at the opening and inspect the hushed Foot Guards. He may go up on budget night, if the local newspapers whip up speculation over possible tax cuts. Of a warm summer evening he may park on the hill and treat the wife and children to a carillon concert. But there are thousands of Ottawans who've never been through the Parliament Buildings, who've never stood on the parapet of the Peace Tower, 291 feet above the asphalt, and traced the Rideau Canal winding through their city.

Ottawans are amused by newspaper reports of the foibles of characters in the Commons like the lately-defeated Jack Sinnott and George Cruikshank. They speak condescendingly of the hot air from the hill, and they hold the Senate in scorn. But with all their seeming indifference and irreverence, they welcome parliament back each year with open arms. It's part of Ottawa, and part of their lives.

Ottawa's tendency to make light of parliament is not a particularly healthy one. Ottawa is a civil service town. Most of the wage earners are government employees. Their god is the minister of their department, and the prime minister is super-god.

The ministers represent Authority. And the more authoritarian a government becomes, the more it is assailed by the opposition in parliament. To the little man in the lower echelons of the civil service, his gods are being assailed, and he mentally rallies to their defense.

Such reaction does not reflect healthy development of the democratic spirit. And if any federal government were to try to perpetuate itself in power by usurping the springs of ultimate authority from the people, measures to remove that transgressing group of authoritarians might not find great support in Ottawa.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

THIS is the age of packaging. Everything we buy now is packaged. We have to go out to a suburban farmer's market now to buy a chicken in the raw. All others are really confined, legs prettily tucked up, in cellophane. Those with grey hair among us can clearly remember when only a few items of merchandise were packaged.

Bigger things than merchandise are succumbing to the packaging mania. War is being packaged. Our government's all live in hot hope that they have got war nicely packaged into a tidy little atom bomb or two. Trade unions wrap packages in their agreements with industry. Salesmen of insurance, garagemen, entertainment offer packages.

It's handy, of course. But the risk is that we may in due time become so accustomed to packaging that we won't feel inclined to accept anything that isn't handy. And then we start accepting packaged ideas. An unpackaged, unhandy idea, will repel us, the way a couple of frowny wild ducks or a hunk of venison repel us when some heavy old friend, fresh back from the north, hands them in the front door.

Do we want somebody else to hand us a package of nicely tidied up ideas, opinions and principles? How about going out into the country, so to speak, for a few ideas with the feathers on, how and then

A PADRE IN PRINT

BY REV. WILLIAM HILLS

Fiddling with the tuning knob on the radio the other night, I chanced to hear a zany ditty entitled "Strange things are happening" and I immediately thought of some of the novel aspects of the impending Victoria by-election. The dictionary defines the adjective "hy(e)" as subordinate, incidental, secondary, side, out-time even the Concise Oxford dictionary is wrong.

Think of the way, for instance, this affair of the ballot box was brought about. The incumbent member did not die, was not chronically ill, was not found guilty of any offense against the state, did not do anything to besmirch his fair name or character. He resigned.

Before he took his seat in the House, he was galvanized with the profound conviction that he was summoned to this duty by Her Majesty the Queen. With the courage of this conviction — he placed in, properly, his standing as a senior municipal servant, left the City Hall, and rose in his place in the Legislature to move acceptance of the Speech from the Throne.

At the close of the session, he resigned. Now he has lost his chair and desk under the town clock and under the towering dome which supports George Vancouver. It may be that he has given the minister of finance a seat next to the premier, but, of course, that remains to be seen.

What perhaps has been forgotten is the fact that H.M. the Queen does not summon a duly elected representative of the people to a sitting or a session but to a legislative assembly, and this is binding upon a member (who has been duly sworn) from the moment that legislation is convened until its dissolution either by vote or political defeat or resignation.

No wonder another Victoria member exclaimed that Mr. Wright's resignation was "a pleasant surprise."

A quite proper concern has been voiced in many quarters and by members of all political parties about the lethargic failure of many citizens in the exercise of their franchise. To one sincerely dedicated to the democratic processes at work in Canada, anything which will stimulate interest and bring out the vote will be wholeheartedly applauded.

But the delicate yet forceful canons of good taste are involved. There is a line which each voter sets up for himself and which, more often than the issues involved, colors his vote. "This far," says he to the candidate, "thus far you may go but no farther."

Already, this humble observer has noticed a resistance to the intrusion of "stunts and circus" which, legitimate enough in themselves and in other places, are instinctively foreign to the basic pattern of Canadian political appeal.

Whoever dreamed up the slogan "Elect Gundy" is doing Mr. Gunderson a disservice.

Mr. Gunderson is an estimable gentleman, a minister of the Crown, and a respected leader in his own profession. His political duties make him the custodian of millions of dollars of the people's money. His is a position of great responsibility and of immense trust.

I am quite sure that his personal attributes adorn it, but I think this "Gundy" business demeans his stature. It is adolescent and out of character. It invites a rash of satirical invention. Soon we shall be calling Mr. W. A. C. Bennett — Premier "Wacky" — why not?

Around the town they are saying: "Feel finer with Einar." "I'm keen on Deane," and "Gregory get your Gundy," etc.

As I have noticed, strange things are happening, but for the sake of those electors who have passed their nineteenth year, let's keep the by-election on a reasonably adult level so that we can all enjoy the fight.

Budgie Bird Show Opens Next Week

Crystal Garden will be a chirpy place next week — when more than 300 birds will be on show for the Vancouver Island Budgerigar Society's open championship.

Budgies of all sizes and shades are coming from many cities of the Pacific Northwest for the two-day event, November 20 and 21.

Gray Russell, one of the founders of the society, said Tuesday that at least 300 birds will be entered. Victoria, Vancouver Island, and Mainland centres will be represented as well as from Seattle and other American cities.

The show will open at 5 p.m. Friday and close at 10 p.m. and on Saturday from 10 a.m.

FALL BAZAAR

The annual fall bazaar of St. John's Ladies Guild will be held in the parish hall, Balmoral Road, on Thursday afternoon, December 3 at 2:30 p.m.

Eileen Creelman Carries Phillips' Tablets Wherever She Goes

"THEY TASTE SO GOOD—ARE WONDERFULLY EFFECTIVE!"

* Mrs. Charles Creelman of Vancouver knows from experience that upset stomach, gas, heartburn and other symptoms of acid indigestion are likely to cause distress any time, anywhere. So she always carries Phillips' Tablets in her handbag. As pleasant to take as candy mints, peppermint flavored Phillips' Tablets are made from one of the fastest, most effective stomach acid neutralizers known to science. They give almost instant relief. 30 tablets—35¢.

Onrushing Leafs Hold Off Canadiens

Toronto Maple Leafs, despite dire pre-season predictions by President Con Smythe and Coach King Clancy, are doing all right for themselves so far in National Hockey League play. Only four points out of first place, they have two games in hand over Montreal Canadiens, who were defeated, 4-1, at Toronto, Wednesday. Victory moved

Terrible Ivan Latest Broadway Hit

BY MEL SUFRIN

NEW YORK (CP)—Ivan, the terrible Ivan, may not be the best defenseman in the National Hockey League but the arrival of this likeable, rough-and-tumble personality seems to be the best thing. Ivan made his first appearance with New York Rangers before the hometown customers Wednesday night and immediately caught their fancy with a knock'em-down display reminiscent of the days of the great Ching Johnson.

Irwin, a 26-year-old six-foot-two 185-pounder who came up to Rangers from Vancouver Canucks of the Western League as a replacement for Allan Stanley, laid Chicago Black Hawks attackers out on the ice with some 15 body checks in the first couple of periods as the Rangers won 3-2.

There were only 6,765 spectators there but they loved it and the reaction seemed to indicate that many more will be for no other reason than to see more of the same.

Irwin, a native of Chicago who has spent most of his years in Canada, living at various times in each of the Prairie provinces and more recently in Toronto, has been playing hockey only since he was 16 and his skating is somewhat hampered by his late start.

But what he lacks in finesse, he makes up in fearlessness, and coach Frank Boucher feels that even more important is his personality.

Irwin was guest at the Ranger hockey luncheon

Thursday and under questioning from reporters indicated that he would do his best to see that opposing defensemen do not take liberties with the lightweight New York forwards.

He said he doesn't intend to look for trouble but he won't sit idly by if opponents are unnecessarily rough with his mates.

Boucher remarked that he does not expect Irwin to go around knocking opponents around like defensemen did in the old days. Hockey was different today and there was less body contact. But he noted that with Irwin playing there was more bodychecking than he had seen in a long time.

Aside from the spirit Irwin instills in the team and his poll at the box office, his value may be considerable as a player who forces opposing forwards to keep their heads up.

Coach Sid Abel of the Black Hawks remarked: "You guys have finally got a hunkie punkin'. He may not be too good at times, but he's really-dishing it out."

Victoria United, finding the going a bit tougher this season and not winning at home, will battle St. Andrews for the right to leave the Coast Senior League basement at Royal Athletic Park tomorrow. Game time is 2:30.

United is tied with the Scots in last place, each club with five points from seven games, and with the last-place club at the end of the season having to face a challenge from the Vancouver district winners to remain in the CSL.

The rebuilt Scots, off to a slow start, have been coming along in recent games and will prove a handful if recent performances are a criterion. On the other hand, United has been slipping and as yet has not come up with a scoring punch or a consistent brand of football.

LINEUP DELAYED

United officials named only part of their starting side last night. Bill Hope and Joe Robins will be at fullback in front of goalie Bill McAllister while Harry Caruthers, Herman Henry and Jack Robbins will form the intermediate line.

That's unchanged from last game but naming of a forward line, club officials stated, will depend on the condition of the pitch. The attacking crew will be picked from Cedric Robb, George Wright, Jim Turner, Ivo McIntyre, Al Travis, Tim Walker, Chick Newman, Roy Speller and Bill McMillan.

St. Andrews will have veteran Bob Newbold in goal fronted by Frank Noga and Eric Mittle. Dave Guthrie is at centre half with Don Matheson and Dave McGaughey as his halves. Up front, former Scottish player Jack Swan is at centre forward. Bill Logan and Stuart Crasman will be on his right side and

One game was played Wednesday, at Vancouver. North Shore United remained undefeated through its sixth match and extended its league lead to four points with games in hand over every other club by blanking New Westminster Royals, 1-0.

Joe Travis, former Victoria goalie, was one of the big stars as he played brilliantly at times to keep the Dominion champions from scoring. Rookie Bud Walton, finishing off Fred Whitaker's goal-bound header off a flag kick, provided the game's only goal after 17 minutes.

Needs Watching

GORDIE FASHOWAY

High-scoring left winger of New Westminster Royals, Gordie Fashoway will be in action tonight at Memorial Arena when Victoria Cougars seek to end latest losing streak at two games and move into fifth place. Fashoway is playing his fourth season in WHL and has been a constant scoring threat. He has 107 goals for 187 games and his nine this season tie him with Bobby Love for team honors.

Quakers out of a last-place tie with Edmonton right into fifth spot, a point ahead of Victoria Cougars and Edmonton and the fourth-place Bombers.

Tonight, the Cougars host New Westminster, third-place Royals and Calgary's second-place Stampedeers will try to end Vancouver Canucks' unbeaten record at home this season and at the same time move within two points of the Western Hockey League leaders.

Stamps are making their second Coast invasion after winning two and tying one in their first try. They have won their last four games, allowing only two goals in the process, and do not appear, so far, to have missed Sid Finney or Steve Black, their high-scoring forwards, with Chicago and on the injured list, respectively.

AMAZING RECORD

On the other hand, Canucks have run up a six-game unbeaten streak after starting out by going nine without a loss and have only lost once. They have an amazing home record with seven one-goal decisions in nine straight victories and eight of their 12 victories have been by the narrowest of margins.

Canucks have never allowed more than three goals in their victories, scoring one shut-out, limiting the opposition to one goal six times and two goals three times.

Cougars, who picked up Royals for six wins in seven games at Victoria last season and won three of seven at New Westminster, have been having a bit of trouble with their old enemy, the Bombers, who have won 4-3, in the last game played here and tied 1-1, and won 3-2, in two games in the Royal City. If the Cougars can regain their old mastery tonight, they'll be only two points out of third spot and one out of fourth.

SCHNEIDER TO PLAY

Coach Bill Reay announced last night that he planned to have centre Gene Achymchuk and winger Bill Sennett sit this one out. That means the return to action of rookie-defenceman Tony Schneider and a second successive game for winger Alex Kurma.

Doug Anderson will start between Andy Hebertson and Colin Kilburn on one line. Ed Doherty will have Sam Bettin and Bob Manson as wingmen, and Reay will play for Stan Maxwell and Kurma, who showed up in advance Tuesday. Roy Abbott will be the 10th forward but Reay said he would be used at centre if the Anderson-Kilburn-Hebertson trio, on the ice for the four Vancouver goals Tuesday, looked as if it needed some changes.

Back to last night's game, Quakers scored a goal in each of the first two periods while Bombers played shorthanded and were halted often by a starchy Marcel Pelletier in goal. Bombers had a third period edge but couldn't get closer than one goal and lost all chance when Jackie McLeod scored on an open net in the last minute.

Lineup: Reay (C), Pelletier (D), Achymchuk (C), Sennett (W), Bettin (W), Manson (W), Abbott (F), Kurma (F), Doherty (F), Hebertson (F), Kilburn (F), Anderson (F).

First Period: 1. Reay (C), Pelletier (D),

Injuries Further Weaken Esks As Blue Bombers Even Series

(From Canadian Press Reports)

Counted out of the running after losing the first game of the Western Interprovincial Football Union finals to Edmonton Eskimos, 23-7, Winnipeg Blue Bombers will probably be no worse than even money when they take the field at Edmonton Saturday in the second game of the series.

Not only did Bombers come up with a complete reversal of form in squaring the series with a thrilling 21-17 triumph at Winnipeg Wednesday, but the Eskimos have been further weakened by injuries.

Billy Vessels, the Oklahoma star who was hurt in the season's last scheduled game, played Wednesday and aggravated his injured back. It is extremely doubtful if he can be of help Saturday. Making it worse from an Edmonton viewpoint, his understudy, Don Simon, was put out of action for the season Wednesday.

Simon suffered severe knee and ankle injuries when he was tackled by a terrific block thrown by Jack Jacobs.

The loss of Simon and, probably, Vessels, leaves the Eskimos extremely short-handed in the backfield, particularly as fullback Normie Kwong is still not fully recovered from injuries which kept him out of the first game of the final. Kwong played Wednesday and played well, but there is always the chance his hurts may be aggravated.

Edmonton coach Darrel Royal Thursday named Ray Enright, homebrew halfback, to take over in Vessels' spot. Billie Miles will be the other half. Don Panagiotis will also see backfield action along with Kwong and quarterback Claude Arnold. Behind this five, the Esks are thin in reserve strength.

And there is the chance that Frank Anderson, a sterling defensive end, will also be out of action. He suffered knee injuries Wednesday.

BOMBERS READY

Meanwhile, Bombers had little to worry about as regards injuries. Fullback Lorne Benson is not expected to be ready for Saturday's game, but the only other player sidelined is halfback Tommy Ford, who has been out of action for some time.

Bombers stayed in the Grey Cup battle Wednesday on the strength of a 19-point second quarter in a game played in a stiff wind which definitely affected the course of battle. A Western Canada record crowd, 17,434, watched tensely as Winnipeg barely managed to make a 19-5 lead stand up when Eskimos put on a rally in the fourth quarter.

Playing with the wind in the first quarter, Eskimos took a 5-0 lead on a field goal by Wilbur Snyder and two deadline kicks by Panagiotis.

But the Bombers made better use of the wind when the clubs switched ends. A 38-yard punt return by fullback Ralph McAllister, who played a strong game, set the stage for the tying points. Tow Casey finally took a pass from quarterback Joe Zaleski over the goal line to make it 5-5, and Bud Korchak, convert made it 6-5. Winnipeg. A fumble by Panagiotis on his own four yard line set the stage for a second major, and Korchak again converted to run the count to 12-5. Korchak's long kick-off rolled off Simon's hands in the end zone and the Bombers got their 13th point. Then Bombers moved from Edmonton's 48-yard line to score a third touchdown on a pass from Casey to McAllister. A tackle-eligible pass from Zaleski to Bud Tinsley was the key play in the march.

CONVERT BLOCKED

Korchak's convert was blocked but the Bombers got their 19th point of the quarter on a kick by Gerry James.

A third-quarter fumble by Casey set the stage for a touchdown by Vessels, converted by Snyder, and the Esks had their score down to 19-11.

Blocking a kick by Panagiotis, who was tackled behind his goal line, gave Bombers their last two points on a safety touch to make it 21-11. Then Arnold tossed a pass to Miles from his own 25 and the speedy Negro went all the way for a touchdown. Snyder converted and it was a 21-17, with Edmonton needing only a touchdown to end it.

Next game, tomorrow: Navy at Nanaimo.

Nanaimo Clippers strengthened their grip on first place in the Commercial Hockey League and Victoria Merchants moved back into second spot after a three-day stay in third place in the regular Wednesday double-header at Memorial Arena.

Clippers' potent attack was again at its best as the V's took a 7-1 thumping in the feature game and slid into third place. Merchants overcame an injured Navy squad, 4-2, in the opener. Approximately 1,500 fans saw the two games.

DAVIS SHINES

Still undefeated away from home, Clippers were just too good for the V's. They scored two goals in each of the first two periods and were ahead, 7-0, before the third period was half over. Goalie Walt Davis, the youngster who replaced Spanky Hodgson when that promising little netminder went to join Nelson Maple Leafs, missed a shutout in his first start when Bob Coulter scored at 9:01.

Right-winger Joe Zuback scored three of Nanaimo's first Esks came close but were held on third down when Kwong got only nine yards after two incomplete passes from the Winnipeg 35. The Bombers kicked out of danger.

Winnipeg's defensive line, outplayed in the first game, was the difference. Tackles Dick Huffman and Tinsley and ends

Hill, who continually broke through to rush Arnold on his pass attempts, were standouts.

Scots and Wood Motors Meet To Decide Finalist

Canadian Scottish and Wood Motors of the Victoria and District Football Association will meet Saturday at Windsor Park in a McGavin Cup semi-final for the right to meet Civil Service in the final.

LEAD STANDS UP

Forward-line superiority was the difference Wednesday as the youthful Civil Service side took advantage of the stiff breeze to run up a 2-0 lead by half-time, coasting in against an ineffective opposition.

Both goalies turned in sound displays with Servants' Archie McMillan being particularly good. However, the Wests' goalkeeper could not be blamed to goale Norman Richards.

The winners settled down to their best game from the start and assumed control which they held most of the time.

The final whistle. They opened the scoring after 20 minutes when a free kick deflected off a defending back, and were not long in getting their second, busting the ball over the line from a scramble.

The second half was just nicely under way when Bob Clark boomed one past Richards for the insurance goal. Wests could not threaten the lead although coming close to scoring several times.

Play roughened as the game wore along and winners' Bill Bamford and Norm Dickie were sent off for fighting near time.

NEVE SPARKS NAVY

Johnny Neve, a newcomer, was one of the big reasons for the improved showing by the sailors. He scored both of their goals, giving them the lead in the first period and bringing them close at 32 in the early minutes of the third. Ron Bremner, Bernie Strongman, Ed Taylor and Ab Vele scored for the winners with Vele's goal the third-period insurance tally.

Toby Brown had two assists.

Mutuel Take Sets Record

TORONTO (BUP).—Racing fans poured a record $50,000,216 into Ontario's pari-mutuel race track betting machines this year.

The total passed by $8,398,868 the previous record of $41,602,048 set in 1952.

This year's figure would have been even higher except for a sudden snowstorm which cancelled the last two days of racing at Hamilton Park.

The biggest increase in betting was at the Long Branch track which had 14 more days of racing than in 1952. Its mutuel handle increased $4,831,639 to a total of $10,976,631.

JIMMY CARTER

Carter KO's Savoie; Seeks Welter Crown

BY MURRAY ROSE

MONTREAL (AP).—Lightweight champion Jimmy Carter, winner of three straight title fights by knockouts, today sought a crack at the winner of Friday's Kid Gavilan-Johnny Bratton welterweight championship bout.

After knocking out rangy Armand Savoie of Montreal Wednesday night in 59 seconds of the fifth round, Carter immediately stepped out in a bout for a shot at the welter crown.

"There ain't nobody left in the lightweights—now for Jimmy," said manager Willie Ketchum, the loquacious member of the New York combination, "so he might as well fight for the welterweight title."

"The NBA said there wasn't any logical contenders in their last ratings," said Willie. "We could make big money with a Gavilan match and money is what we're after."

"Anything Willie says goes," said Carter. "A welterweight title fight is fine with me."

The champion had a slight cut over his left eye as the result of a head collision with the 23-year-old Montrealer in the fourth round. Savoie had a similar gash.

Carter said the kayo punch was a beauty—the best single punch I ever threw—traveled just about three inches.

"I was looking for the opening and he gave it to me."

"I saw it (the right) coming fast," said the disgruntled 23-year-old buster. "I was faking a left to the body and we both threw the right. He was lucky."

For three rounds Savoie, who beat Carter by a split decision in a non-title 10-rounder here

February 16, gave the partisan crowd of 9,136 unexpected thrills as he carried the fight to the champion, a notorious slow starter.

Carter, a lacklustre performer in non-title fights but a terror when his coveted crown is on the block, thus evened up another old score.

It was his eighth fight of the year, and his third title kayo within seven months. He stopped Tommy Collins in four 13 in earlier defenses.

Carter received a flat guarantee of $25,000. Savoie collected about $6,000.

Carter weighed 133½, Savoie 134.

Hockey Leaders Refute Charge Made by Justice

TORONTO (BUP).—Hockey leaders teamed today to deny a judge's charge that modern hockey games can only be compared to Nero's Roman circuses.

Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said he thought the statement indicated Justice D. C. Wells "is no more competent to pass judgment on hockey than I am to pass judgment on justice."

Wells made the statement after a jury cleared Walter Fines, a junior defenseman, of charges of manslaughter for the death of an opponent in a playoff game.

Campbell said that hockey has its accidents "like any other business" but he said he didn't think it could be called a gladiatorial circus.

"This is the first hockey fatality in a long, long time," he said. "Far more players are killed in football."

Conn Smythe, managing director of the Toronto Maple Leafs, said he had heard and answered the charge before.

"If Justice Wells had studied engineering, he would know that when an irresistible force meets another force something has got to give," Smythe said. "When a player comes hurtling down the ice at 110 miles per hour, he's bound to be hurt if

'Walk-Off' Costly, French Horse Wins $65,000 Stake Race

LIVERPOOL, England (Reuters).—Wilton Albion, Cheshire, today was awarded the Football Association fourth qualifying round tie, which was abandoned after 31 minutes Saturday when another Cheshire team, Runcorn, refused to continue play after a disputed goal.

Runcorn claimed that the shot which gave Wilton Albion a 2-0 lead had gone through the side-netting. The club was fined £50—and ordered to pay the cost of the Association cup committee at Liverpool.

Nelson will be at home to the first round proper November 21.

French Horse Wins $65,000 Stake Race

BY JOHN CHANDLER

LAUREL, Md. (AP).—Worden, a French horse owned by a Pennsylvanian now living abroad, flashed into the lead with a bit more than an eighth of a mile to go Wednesday to run away with the colorful $65,000 Washington International before a record crowd of $31,100 at Laurel Park.

The 4-year-old chestnut son of Wild Risk-Sans Tares, owned by Ralph Beaver Strassburger, 500 E. 15th St., Philadelphia, Pa., newspaper publisher, defeated nine other stars from six countries in the 1 1/2-mile classic.

Charlie Smirke, considered the top jockey in Europe, bided his time with the 15-1 shot, then sped down the infield grass course in a final burst that sent him under the wire a sixteenth victor over Iceberg II, an American-owned horse bred in Chile.

Iceberg II led the Brookmeade Stable's Sunflow, an American contender, by three lengths, while another French horse, Paul Duboseq's Silnet, was fourth another half-length away.

WILWYN NINTH

Robert Boucher's Wilwyn, the British horse who won the Laurel International last year, finished ninth. While Charfran Stable's Crafty Admiral—the 2-to-1 favorite—finished tenth

Golf--- Here's How

BY SAM SNEAD

Short iron play differs from the long irons and woods in everything—almost—except the grip. There is very little hip or shoulder pivot. And you need steady arm action. The short irons are Nos. 6, 7, 8, 9. The more lofted the iron, the closer you stand to the ball; the closer your heels are to the stance, the more you open the stance and the more up-right your swing. One main purpose of opening the stance widely and bringing the heels together with the short irons is that you then automatically shorten your backswing to not more than a three-quarter swing. This helps control and placement. The backswing imparted to the ball by lofted clubs in short shots causes the ball to drop with little or no roll.

Liberal Candidate

GEORGE GREGORY

will voice your protest against "SOCRED" BROKEN PROMISES HIGHER TAXES and "DOUBLE TALK"

Speaking before a Credit Men's meeting in Vancouver, May 12th last, the "SOCRED" Minister of Finance said "Rise of taxation must be halted if individual initiative and progress under free enterprise are to continue."

And throughout the last election campaign the "SOCRED" party made promises of lower taxes one of their main themes.

HOW WELL DID THE GOVERNMENT CARRY OUT ITS PROMISES?

In an editorial in The Daily Colonist of Oct. 15th, we read—"Premier Bennett's government appears to be even hungrier for tax revenues than any of its malignant predecessors. Throughout two election campaigns the Social Credit party has preached economy and relief for the taxpayers; yet, once in office with a clear majority, the government has proceeded to impose one new tax after another — One way and another, the Socreds, who professed horror at the size of earlier provincial budgets, seem bent on pushing revenues higher than ever."

If you want to protest (and, of course, you DO) against these and many other instances of broken faith, get out November 24th, and one good reason for saving...now

What is your heart's desire? An addition to your home...a playroom for the children...a new modern kitchen? Or perhaps you are hoping and planning for something else entirely. Whatever your own particular dream, saving will help to make it come true...more quickly than you think if you save regularly. Now is a good time to set up your own "special purpose" account at the Royal Bank.

Hon. Einar M. Gunderson
Minister of Finance

FINANCIAL POLICIES OF YOUR SOCIAL CREDIT GOVERNMENT ARE IN THE BEST INTERESTS OF THE PEOPLE OF VICTORIA

- REDUCTION OF DEBT
The Budget Speech of Liberal Finance Minister dated March 4th, 1952 shows the net debt under the Liberal regime would have now reached $207 million. Under the Social Credit Government the net debt is now only $157 million or $50 million less than it would have been if the Liberals had been elected in 1952.
- SECURE MORE REVENUE FROM NATURAL RESOURCES
These taxes placed on the PROFITS of our resources are deductible as an expense from Federal Income Tax and make it possible for your Social Credit Government to reduce taxes on all of the people in British Columbia.
- REDUCTION OF TAXES IN THE SIXTEEN MONTHS SINCE SOCIAL CREDIT HAS BEEN IN OFFICE
Your Social Credit Government reduced sales tax on meals.
Your Social Credit Government reduced car license fees.
Your Social Credit Government reduced Hospital Insurance premiums.
These REDUCTIONS SAVE the PEOPLE of the Province over $1,000,000 per year.
Yes, your Social Credit Government is a peoples Government, do not be misled by the false propaganda of the powerful self-interested oligarchy of political machines.
Your Social Credit Government is a free enterprise Government, securing the benefits of Free Enterprise for all of our people.

Some of the most beautiful specimens such as the erubescens were so delicate that they were easily crushed. The flowers were very fragrant and the leaves were very smooth. The plants were very hardy and could be grown in a greenhouse or in a cold frame. The plants were very easy to grow and could be propagated by cuttings. The plants were very attractive and could be used as a house plant or as a garden plant. The plants were very easy to grow and could be propagated by cuttings. 20 INCH PLAYMATE

A little more than a decade ago, the first Playmate was crowned Miss January. Since then, the annual contest has become a tradition, and the winners have become household names. But what if you were a Playmate? What would it be like to live the life of a Playmate?

The answer is simple: You'd be a star. You'd be a model. You'd be a beauty. You'd be a woman who could turn heads wherever she went. You'd be a woman who could make anyone's heart melt.

But there's more to being a Playmate than just looking good. There's also a lot of hard work involved. You'd have to be able to hold your own in a world of competition. You'd have to be able to handle the pressure of being in the spotlight. And you'd have to be able to keep your head when the heat is on.

So, if you're thinking about becoming a Playmate, you'll need to be ready for everything. You'll need to be confident, strong, and beautiful. You'll need to be a woman who can take on the world. You'll need to be a woman who can shine as brightly as the sun.

And if you're lucky, you might even get to meet some of the most famous people in the world. Because, after all, that's what being a Playmate is all about. It's about being part of something big. It's about being part of a team that's bigger than any one person. It's about being part of a legacy that will last forever.

So, are you ready to become a Playmate? Are you ready to take on the world? Are you ready to shine as brightly as the sun? If so, then you'll need to be ready for everything. You'll need to be confident, strong, and beautiful. You'll need to be a woman who can take on the world. You'll need to be a woman who can shine as brightly as the sun.

And if you're lucky, you might even get to meet some of the most famous people in the world. Because, after all, that's what being a Playmate is all about. It's about being part of something big. It's about being part of a team that's bigger than any one person. It's about being part of a legacy that will last forever.

All Day Protection from Tooth Decay Acids

MOTHERS You have probably asked yourself, "Why, despite regular brushing, does my child still have so much tooth decay?"

Decay foods are produced when we eat and drink sugary and starchy. These are attacked by substances called enzymes, of bacterial origin, present in excreta, in mouth all the time.

You want to stop those enzymes before they produce decay acids. And keep them stopped all day - all night.

Before each meal or snack caused enzyme activity, and harmful decay acids. Brushing each time was necessary. And each brushing gave only moments of protection.

Now, for the first time, science knows how to build a continuous, all-day enzyme "barrier." This "barrier" actually rests on the teeth providing protection before and after meals. It's an amazing new discovery, important to you and your children. And it is available to you now in the one—the only—completely new Anticavity Tooth Paste.

Before Antizyme, one brushing could protect you Only Minutes

People susceptible to tooth decay brushed their teeth in twice with Amelastone of all kinds. After brushing for 30 seconds, a control tube. In almost every case the Acidometer showed the presence of dangerous tooth decay acids. Effects of brushing were only temporary.

Later people used Anzime Tooth Paste for one week 12 to 24 hours after the first brushing. The same group found no difference with a control solution. In 9 out of 10 cases the Anzime tooth paste was better than a control tooth paste. Anzime made the difference!

Uncle Wiggily Story - By Howard Green

HE WANDERED AWAY
Uncle Wiggily was a very old man, and he was very wise. He had a long white beard, and he wore a long white robe. He lived in a small house on the edge of a forest. One day, he decided to go for a walk. He walked for a long time, and he saw many beautiful things. He saw a river, and he saw a forest. He saw a small village, and he saw a castle. He saw many things that he had never seen before. He was very happy, and he walked on and on. He walked for a long time, and he saw many beautiful things. He saw a river, and he saw a forest. Cause of Fatalities Not Always Speeding

BY FREDERICK C. RUSSELL

No driver has the right to do as he pleases unless he pleases to do right.

When a driver is in a hurry, he is often tempted to speed. But speed is not always the cause of fatalities. Often, it is the lack of proper maintenance or the driver's failure to follow traffic rules.

It all goes back to the late 1940s, when the automotive industry was still recovering from the war. Many cars were poorly maintained, and drivers were often inexperienced.

Today, the automotive industry has come a long way. Cars are safer, and drivers are more experienced. But the cause of fatalities is still not always speeding.

It is important for drivers to take proper care of their vehicles and to follow traffic rules. This is the only way to ensure the safety of everyone on the road.

UNCOVERS ITS AIRLINES. The automotive industry has many different types of cars, each with its own unique features. Some cars are designed for speed, while others are designed for comfort.

Hitler Car Demanded By Germans

Hitler's car, a Mercedes-Benz, is being demanded by the Germans. They claim that the car is a national treasure and should be returned to them.

LONG LEGAL BATTLE. The case has led to a long legal battle between the Germans and the Allies. The Germans argue that the car was stolen from them during the war.

THE CAR. The car is a 1934 Mercedes-Benz, which was used by Hitler during his time in power. It is now in the hands of the Allies.

THE BATTLE. The legal battle has been ongoing for several years. The Germans have won several court cases, but the Allies have also won some.

THE FUTURE. The future of the car is still uncertain. It is possible that it will be returned to the Germans, but it is also possible that it will remain in the hands of the Allies.

Any day now, a sudden cold snap will send the thermometer down below freezing. And if your car's cooling system is still unprotected, the result could be a cracked block and a bill for several hundred dollars.

Shellzone Ethylene Glycol Anti-Freeze protects all types of liquid-cooled engines. It's non-rusting and non-corrosive, does not damage rubber or metal parts, and will not boil away. And as a special gift every motorist who has his car's cooling system completely serviced with Shellzone will receive a large dispenser of handy Shell Stop-Slip—absolutely free. See your neighbourhood Shell Dealer TODAY... and have him service your car's cooling system with guaranteed Shellzone Ethylene Glycol Anti-Freeze... one filling lasts all winter.

Colorful Bride Ship Operetta Opening in Esquimalt Tonight

The "Bride Ship" is a colorful operetta which opens in Esquimalt tonight. The story is set in the days of the early 19th century when the British were still establishing their colonies in North America. The operetta is a musical comedy which tells the story of a young man who falls in love with a girl who is the daughter of a wealthy merchant. The young man is a sailor and he is away from home for a long time. When he returns, he finds that the girl has been married to another man. The operetta is a musical comedy which tells the story of a young man who falls in love with a girl who is the daughter of a wealthy merchant. The young man is a sailor and he is away from home for a long time. When he returns, he finds that the girl has been married to another man.

TALENTED CAST
 The operetta is being presented by the Esquimalt High School. The cast includes Stanley Martin, who plays the role of the young man. WOMEN WEAR BUSINESS SUITS
The latest fashion in business suits for women is a combination of style and practicality. Look for wide lapels, long sleeves, and a touch of color. The skirt suit remains popular, but the pantsuit is gaining ground. Fabrics like wool, tweed, and silk are still favored for their durability and elegance.

Men Called Cowardly In Their Habits of Dress

NEW YORK (AP).—Men are cowards, says Elsa Schiaparelli, French fashion designer, because they're afraid to depart from the well-trodden rut in their habits of dress.

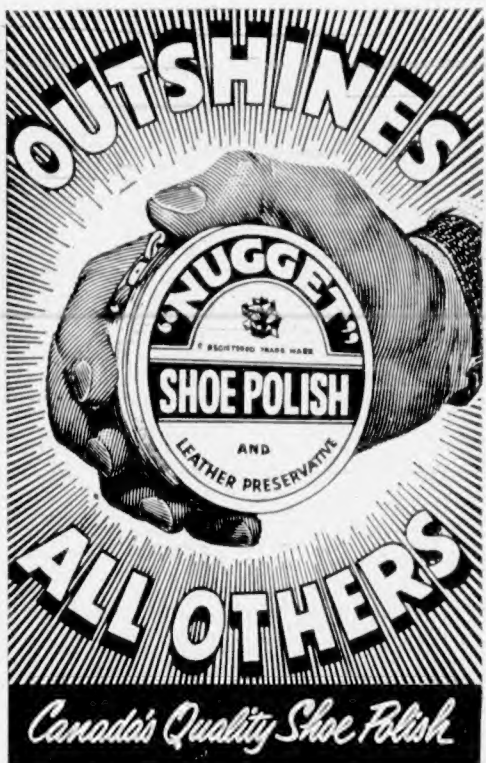

Four Children Die in Flames

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (CP).—Four small children died Wednesday

when their apartment building was used as a barracks for the former army barracks now used as apartments. Their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rayman, fled when they smelled smoke, then were unable to re-enter the apartment to save the children.

Invading Flies Hit Beaches

LONDON (AP).—Eight English seaside resorts appealed Thursday for government aid against a plague of blackflies which hatched across the Atlantic on floating seaweed.

Millions of the insects have appeared on the beaches of Brighton, Worthing, Hove, Littlehampton, Bognor Regis, Shanklin, Lyme Regis and Ventnor.

The experts say the flies are a type common along the eastern coast of North America. They are believed to have made the crossing on seaweed carried by the Gulf Stream.

'Cassandra' Criticizes U.K. Workers

LONDON (AP).—A columnist for the London Daily Mirror declared Thursday that the American worker makes his British counterpart look like Rip Van Winkle.

"The British workman—long lauded as the finest in the world—is no longer the finest," said William Neil Connor, who writes under the name "Cassandra." He recently returned from a tour of the United States.

He said the British worker "is often one of the laziest. He is also inefficient and opposed to change."

"The American works harder. He is more interested in the job. He is more adaptable. These are sweeping assertions—but they are true."

"The American working man has a vast desire to get on—and getting on in America means earning more money and owning more things."

"He delights in inventiveness, takes an almost childish glee in any machine from a 50-ton press to any cute little gadget that will save human toil."

American bosses, too, he asserted are far more efficient than those in Britain.

"They talk a lot of rubbish at times," he said, "but when it comes to getting on with the job there is nobody to touch them."

How to Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little PASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline non-acid powder sticks false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey paste taste or freckling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get PASTEETH today at any drug store.

Disguised Planes Anticipated

TORONTO (CP).—Fighter pilots of Canada's northern air defenses are being trained to deal with possible attacks by Russian aircraft disguised with United States or Canadian markings, Air Marshal C. R. Slemmon said Wednesday.

Canada's chief of air staff told the Electric Club of Toronto that an air defense command will be in full operation in Canada's northland in a few months. It will involve a chain of radar stations and ground control centres.

Air Marshal Slemmon said strategic areas have been set aside for noting all aircraft movement by radio and radar.

"The flight plans of all legitimate aircraft are filed. Any deviation must have an immediate explanation."

He said that on many occasions civilian aircraft have strayed off course because of bad weather and found themselves intercepted by fighter aircraft.

Canada has "no bombers because she can't afford them," he said, yet that was "the element which alone can give victory in any future conflict."

Nelson Relics Stolen

MONMOUTH, England (Reuters).—Police sought Thursday to recover unharmed 95 priceless historical relics linked with Admiral Lord Nelson, which were stolen from a museum here.

Their greatest fear is that the thieves will melt down the treasures for their gold content. Their intrinsic value is about $6,000, but historically no price can be set on them.

The biggest single loss was 84 golden guineas reputed to have been found on Nelson's body when he was wounded fatally at the Battle of Trafalgar. They were made into a canopy to cover a model of his tomb.

The jeweled hilt of a sword presented to the admiral by the King of Naples also is missing. The jewels were removed some years ago and replaced with paste stones for safety.

A complete showcase containing 75 gold brooches, medals, rings, pendants and watches was stripped of its contents.

Flying Saucers To Be Studied

OTTAWA (CP).—The world's first laboratory to prove or disprove the existence of flying saucers is being built by the transport department at Shirley's Bay, 10 miles northwest of Ottawa.

W. B. Smith, engineer in charge of the broadcast and measurement section of the department, said the laboratory or sighting station should be in operation in a few days.

Mr. Smith said the laboratory "is being built in the hope of finding out something tangible about flying saucers." He said if flying saucers actually exist "the equipment in the laboratory should be able to detect them."

Mr. Smith said the laboratory is 12 feet square and is located about 200 feet from the transport department's ionospheric observatory at Shirley's Bay.

"The building and equipment cost practically nothing," he said, "because we had most of it on hand from a previous project. All of the recording equipment is automatic and merely requires servicing by officials of the ionospheric observatory."

Mr. Smith said the experiment was a "shot in the dark." It is possible, he added, "that we will obtain some clues which will help us to determine whether saucers exist."

World's Speed Queried

REGINA (CP).—Regina astronomers will search the sky Saturday morning in part of an international attempt to find times of the transit—if the weather does not interfere. The last transit visible in Regina was May 11, 1937.

The quest will be directed to the transit of Mercury when the planet crosses between the earth and the sun.

The phenomenon, which takes place an average of 13 times a century, is used by scientists as a celestial stopwatch for clocking the rate of the earth's rotation on its own axis.

Gallant Feat Of Driver Saves Town

EPERECIEUX, France (CP) — This little farming village is singing the praises of truck driver Jean Esteve for a feat of "unwilling courage" which saved the village from destruction.

Esteve was driving a heavy truck loaded high with 10 tons of ammunition and explosives on a convoy haul to Marsville for shipment to the Indo-China war.

He was riding the lead truck in the column as it rumbled across country before dawn Wednesday.

Suddenly the driver of the second truck spotted flames flicking from the back axle of Esteve's truck. He signalled the following 68 trucks to stop, and 68 drivers jumped for the ditch to await the blast.

Esteve and his co-driver ground on unaxles. Then they themselves saw the red glow of the spreading fire.

They braked to a halt and jumped.

Esteve took a look around and saw that his blazing truck was standing at the entrance to the sleeping village.

He picked himself up, ran back to the truck, started the engine and shoved the heavy vehicle into reverse.

With flames raging by now around the cab, he held the backing truck on the road as seconds ticked past — 10 yards, 20 yards, 30 yards — then he jumped.

Seconds later the heat touched off the blast. Crouching in a ditch Esteve saw the truck vanish in a gaping crater, trees topple and shrapnel whine in every direction.

Windows were shattered in the village but there was not a single casualty.

Virus Isolated

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — First "definite" isolation and identification of human infantile paralysis virus was reported Wednesday by a University of California scientist who said the development "is expected to speed up the fight against polio."

Dr. Wendell Stanley said it paves the way for chemical analysis of the structure of the germ, and thereby might conceivably lead to improved polio vaccines and possibly even to the ultimate development of a chemical weapon to treat the disease. The research is supported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Stanley said two of his colleagues at the university's virus laboratory at Berkeley have obtained "the first photograph definitely identifying the human polio virus" and have established with certainty that it is spherical-shaped germ about a millionth of an inch in diameter.

Defense Charges To Stay

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's defense drive will continue at its present rate next year, the Throne Speech opening the 22nd Parliament forecast Thursday.

The 1,200-word speech outlining government policy and projected legislation was read in English and in French in the Senate chamber by Governor General Vincent Massey. It said:

"Much remains to be done before there can be a permanent and durable peace in the world. My ministers therefore consider it would be unwise for the free nations to slacken our efforts to build up and maintain the necessary strength to deter aggression and they intend to continue to work to that end."

Defense this year is costing $2,000,000,000, half the entire Canadian budget, and officials said that roughly the same amount will be spent in 1954. There may be increased expenditures for some phases of defense, less for others.

FOREIGN POLICY

The speech described the North Atlantic Treaty alliance as one of the cornerstones of Canadian foreign policy, promised continued technical assistance and rehabilitation funds for underdeveloped countries and expressed the hope that a political conference would bring peace to Korea.

Major policies on home affairs in the speech were an expanded housing program, added financial help for hog producers, more fish sales and an assistance program for totally disabled persons.

The speech said the government is giving "particular attention" to development of fish markets and encouragement of more modern production methods in the Atlantic fisheries, especially in Newfoundland.

The speech said plans for rehabilitation of totally disabled persons are being worked out with the provinces and that a bill providing for an assistance program for such persons will be introduced.

Officials said later that some 20,000 totally disabled persons between the ages of 15 and 65 likely will get pensions not exceeding $40 a month.

The Commons will be asked to amend the Pipe Lines Act to give the board of transport commissioners jurisdiction over all companies authorized to construct or operate inter-provincial or international oil or gas pipe lines.

This would reinforce the government's support for a Canadian transcontinental natural gas pipeline. The board now has jurisdiction over pipeline companies incorporated by Parliament but not over those incorporated by provinces.

Parliament will be asked to resume its unfinished job of revising the Criminal Code. The speech also said a committee of penal experts has been appointed to examine and report upon methods of parole and remission of sentences.

The speech forecast some changes in veterans legislation but officials said they will not be major ones. They will deal with "some extension" of benefits.

Crash Victim Remains Unconscious

Lester B. Jones, critically injured in Tuesday's fatal crash at Suicide Corner on the Goldstream Hill, was still unconscious and in a very critical condition, at an early hour today.

Mr. Jones was in the car in which Donald B. Johnston and S. John Cross were killed in a collision with a lowboy trailer.

Another passenger, Captain Bernard McKay, 56, of Vancouver, was treated for scalp and chest injuries at Royal Jubilee Hospital and his condition is reported "fairly good."

Mr. Jones, who is 39 and lives at 2571 Blackwood, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital with serious head and face injuries. He has not regained consciousness since the accident.

High Winds Start Fires

High winds Thursday night caused a rash of small fires that kept firemen in Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich busy.

MORE HOUSE BUILDING EXPECTED FOR VICTORIA

Housing Hopes Improved for Indians

A dream came true for one Indian family on West Saanich Indian Reserve last month when they moved into new home just completed by Department of Indian Affairs building supervisor Chief Percy Ross. Photo shows interior of kitchen which is in sharp contrast with interior of Hubert Henry home at left.

This barn-like structure was home of little three-year-old Delores Henry, whose death last week has raised storm of protest from T'sartlip Band. Close look at barren walls shows cracks through which daylight can be seen. Floor of one-room building is speckled with openings and during strong wind piece of linoleum rises as if lifted by an unseen hand. (See story on Page 21.)

Workers Accept B.C. Electric Offer

VANCOUVER (CP)—Electrical workers accepted a B.C. Electric Co. offer, but turned down offers by two other companies, votes counted Thursday disclosed.

More than 80 per cent of the 500 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW) members employed by the B.C. Electric voted to accept a 4 per cent raise spread over two years and fringe benefits amounting to another 1 1/2 per cent.

However, another 500 workers employed by Hume & Rumble, Limited, and Peterson Electric, Limited, voted 90 per cent to turn down an offer which did not involve a pension plan, such as enjoyed by B.C. Electric. Full gains from the B.C. are 2 per cent raise, in 1953, retroactive to August 1; another 2 per cent, from next August and full payment—instead of half—by the company of MSA and B.C.H.S. costs. The B.C. Electric also enjoy a pension plan which the company says costs them another 4 per cent of the workers' wages.

It is this plan which Peterson and Hume and Rumble refused to accept.

Subpoena Ignored

WASHINGTON (AP)—Harry S. Truman spurned a subpoena from the House of Representatives committee on un-American activities Thursday and manoeuvres to force the former president to testify on the Harry Dexter White "Soviet spy" case collapsed.

In polite yet strong terms, Truman told the committee by letter that for him to obey the subpoena would shatter the constitutional doctrine of presidential independence of Congress and make the president "a mere arm of the legislative branch of the government."

Chairman Harold Velde (Rep., Ill.) said the committee has no intention of trying to compel the former president to appear, though he said the former president has "a sacred duty to co-operate in all respect where the public safety and public welfare are concerned."

The committee voted late in the day to invite Attorney General Herbert Brownell to testify on the White case. Velde said afterwards Brownell had accepted the invitation, for a date still to be determined.

Democrats on the House committee had been demanding that Brownell be the first witness at any hearing, to put his charges on the record before calling in any persons he might accuse.

Chairman Harold Velde (Rep., Ill.) said the committee has no intention of trying to compel the former president to appear, though he said the former president has "a sacred duty to co-operate in all respect where the public safety and public welfare are concerned."

The soldier, Pte. F. J. W. Kelly of the Royal Army Medical Corps, will be deported from Russia.

Agenda Talks End

PANMUNJOM (AP)—Allied and Communist diplomatic staff advisers Thursday ended secret sessions on the agenda for preliminary Korean peace talks without saying whether they set one up or not.

Mortar Boards Put to Good Use

TORONTO (CP)—The University of Toronto's "character war" took a new turn Thursday. Someone bricked up the main entrance to Trinity College.

Ever since university president Dr. Sydney Smith called for more individuality and less conformity among students in a speech last month, the tempo of goings-on has increased.

Two weeks ago the engineers staged a pantie raid on St. Hilda's girls' residence. Then someone stole the architect's model of Trinity's new wing. The Trinity provost, Rev. R. S. K. Seeley, reported his chair missing.

The bricks were blocking Trinity's entrance early Thursday. No one knew who put them there. Dr. Smith declined to comment.

Stabbing Suspects Trade Accusations

RICHMOND, Calif. (AP)—"He (presumably her husband) doesn't want to drink. All this triangle slaying of a he wants to do is argue. He's a merchant seaman were quizzed asleep now. Kill him one way separately Thursday and or the other."

Waller said he and Mrs. Johnson went to her home. Waller said he hid in the garage and was inadvertently locked in. Later he was let out by Mrs. Johnson, who went into the bedroom and showed him her husband's body.

He said he picked it up, put it on the bed and wiped blood from his hands with a towel. He told Inspector Davis they discussed ways of getting rid of the body, decided to wait until daylight to dump into some isolated park.

Johnson's battered and slashed body was found early Wednesday. Police said he had been beaten with a claw hammer and stabbed at least 82 times.

Waller was first questioned at the office of district attorney Douglas Quinlan. Then Mrs. Johnson, who had been under treatment for shock, was brought in.

Quinlan said Waller told him he was in Mrs. Johnson's home the morning of the slaying. But he insisted he was locked in the garage when Johnson arrived and when he got out, Johnson was dead.

Mrs. Johnson, the district attorney reported, told a different story.

Asleep with her husband, she awoke at 1 a.m. Wednesday with a headache. Going into the kitchen to get some coffee, she saw Waller's shadowy form on the back porch. She went back to bed but a short time later, she awoke again and went into the kitchen to find Waller drinking whiskey. She asked him to leave and returned to bed.

Then she awoke again to find Waller stabbing her husband, who was crying out "call the police." She fainted and woke up only when police telephoned to report they had arrested Waller in her car.

Police Inspector Darrel T. Davis said Waller told Mrs. Johnson called him twice and then came to a howling alley and gave him a note which read:

High Cost Attacked

Throne Speech Suggests Cut, Down Payment May Be Halved

BY HARRY YOUNG
Colonist Business Editor

Easier down payments on new houses, indicated in the Speech from the Throne, Thursday, are welcomed by the building trades in Victoria.

High costs have put most Victoria builders out of the homebuilding business, but the more favorable buying terms down payment on the first may help the situation, according to George H. Wheaton, a president of Victoria Chamber of Commerce, who is also a building contractor.

"The government is better taking this step of encouraging people to buy their own houses than going into the building business itself, as it has occasionally done in the past," he said.

Mr. Wheaton believes home building in Victoria will be stimulated.

SELL MORE READILY
"Obviously any product which is purchasable on easier terms will sell more readily," he declared.

An official of Central Mortgage and Housing, through which crown corporation all loans will be passed, said that it was impossible to say at the moment, in the lack of specific terms, how the Victoria public would respond.

"We would certainly anticipate bringing in a number of new people," said the spokesman, but he would not be surprised either way at the reception.

There was no way of telling how many people were deterred from starting house construction because of the present down payment of 20 per cent, he said.

CHANGE FOR BANKS
Dugald Macgregor, manager of the Bank of Montreal Douglas Street branch said that he anticipated a change in the Bank Act which would allow the chartered banks to advance loans on new houses. At present they are debarred from doing so.

"The banks would make their loans through the National Housing Act," he said. "I do not think the banks would be permitted to lend promiscuously on new housing."

At present, mortgages are obtained chiefly through trust, life insurance and finance companies.

According to word from Ottawa Thursday a 10 per cent indicated as government policy down payment on the first $8,000 of the lending value of a new house will likely be a feature of proposed legislation to be introduced early in the current session of Parliament.

INKLING GIVEN
The Speech from the Throne gave an inkling of the government's intentions, stating that legislation will be introduced "to increase and broaden the supply of mortgage money so that more people with moderate incomes will be able to find facilities to assist them to build their own homes."

Prime Minister St. Laurent some time ago outlined briefly the government's plans to allow banks to enter the mortgage-lending field for the first time. This will be done through a mortgage-insurance scheme to be handled by the publicly-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

The prime minister also said the government was considering reductions in down payments and lengthening of time to pay on mortgage loans to make it easier for the low-wage earner to buy a house.

For weeks officials have been grappling with measures for cutting down payments and the new legislation likely will set out.

The down payment on the first $8,000 of the lending value of a house will be cut to 10 per cent from 20.

The down payment on the portion in excess of $8,000 will be 30 per cent.

Interest rates will be increased to 5 1/2 per cent from 5 per cent.

Mortgages running to 25 and 30 years will become normal. Currently mortgage men are reluctant to lend money on anything beyond 20-year mortgages.

Storm Wrecks Small Craft

Eisenhower Arriving In Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—A battery of guns will fire a 21-gun salute today when President and Mrs. Eisenhower arrive by special train for a two-day state visit.

The president will review a guard of honor and place a wreath on the national war memorial before leaving for Rideau Hall, official residence of the governor-general.

In the afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower each will plant a tree in the Rideau Hall grounds. That evening, 100 guests will sit down at a banquet given in honor of the president by the governor-general. Some 300 persons will attend a reception afterwards.

The president will tackle the serious business of his visit Saturday, first addressing a joint session of the Commons and Senate and then conferring with the cabinet.

Saturday evening, the president will give a dinner at the U.S. embassy in honor of the governor-general and prime minister.
